

SNOW IS SPEAKER AT ROTARY DINNER

Urges That Members Keep in Touch With Younger Generation.

SHAND TELLS OF TRIP

E. H. Snow, principal of the Lower Merion Junior High School, was speaker at the meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Tuesday night. He chose "Fellowship" as his topic.

The meeting was informal in tone and was held under the direction of the fellowship committee of the club, of which Fred Walzer is chairman. Preceding Mr. Snow's address, W. Russell Green was called on for a few words, which resolved themselves into a brief recital of war experiences.

Following Mr. Green on the program, Mr. Snow took up the war topic and told the members of some of the interesting and amusing experiences he had encountered while a top sergeant in the coast artillery.

"We are busy and prosperous," he said, "but must find the opportunity to devote part of our time and energy to others. We must keep in contact with our fellowmen, particularly with the younger generation, who need our friendship and counsel."

The speaker told of a New England town where he had spent some time. There the residents live within their own shells and seem to lose all sense of human fellowship. As a result the town is dying—in business, social life and population.

Lindbergh is loved because of his sympathy, Mr. Snow said. When he is spoken to, he is interested; when he is shown something, he pays more than formal attention to it. These qualities of sympathy and respect for those with whom he comes in contact are signs of the fellowship which is needed everywhere.

"Take time in life to know the other fellow," he urged, "and learn the good that is in him. Stop a while for friendships and laughter; it will solve many a problem."

Alexander C. Shand, Jr., the club's newlywed and recently returned tourist, gave the members a brief account of his trip to England, Scotland, France and Italy. Scotland he found chill and bleak. London was his favorite city.

In France there seemed to be a universal feeling of hatred among the citizens for Americans, and this created an atmosphere which did not make his stay there at all pleasant. At Nice Mr. and Mrs. Shand met Carroll Downes, a former Burgess of Narberth and a high official in the Durant Motor Company. Mrs. Downes had been ill at the resort for some time, and both she and Mr. Downes seemed eager to leave the land of anti-American feeling.

HOME AND SCHOOL HEAD TO ADDRESS MOTHERS

Discussion and Reception to Follow Mrs. Reeves' Talk.

Narberth citizens who are interested in the schools are to have a real treat on Monday evening, January 9th.

Mrs. A. H. Reeves, the National President of Congress of Parents and Teachers and the President of the International Federation of Home and School, will speak on "What the home should expect from the school and the school should expect from the home."

The Mothers' Council of Narberth is very fortunate in having a person of Mrs. Reeves' experience and prominence in educational work, and her subject is one of interest to everyone.

Parents whose children are in public or private schools in Narberth or elsewhere will be welcome at this meeting of Mothers' Council.

An informal discussion will follow the address, after which there will be a reception, giving an opportunity to meet Mrs. Reeves personally. The meeting is held in Narberth Junior High School at 8 o'clock Monday evening, January 9th.

POLICE CATCH 42 IN TAG ROUND-UP

Neglectful Motorists Are Fined $13.50 at Ardmore Hearings.

MANY PROTESTS HEARD

A total of 42 motorists were arrested by Lower Merion police this week for using 1927 automobile license tags over time. The haul began at 9 A. M. Sunday and continued until Tuesday, when the last two offenders against the State motor vehicle law were brought in.

In a number of cases the motorists had new tags in their cars, but through forgetfulness had neglected to put them on their machines. No leniency was shown however, and everyone caught was escorted to the Ardmore police station where they were given hearings before Squire I. Warner Arthur; fined $10 and assessed costs of $3.50.

Those who had their new plates with them were then allowed to place them on their machines and depart. The others were required to leave their cars at the police station until they secured 1928 tags.

Of the 42 arrested, 30 were brought in on New Year's day. Others kept appearing, and eight more were arrested on Monday, and a final two on Tuesday.

Those motorists caught early on New Year's day were indignant when they found the police meant business and they would be forced to pay fines for their forgetfulness. Police in the city and in nearby communities had let them pass with a warning.

Replying to this criticism Police Superintendent Smith pointed out the State law decreed that no 1927 tags could be used after the last day of the old year, and in order that all motorists might have a chance to change in time, new plates were allowed on machines beginning December 17. He called attention to a statement broadcast through local newspapers last week, two days before the end of the year, which gave warning that the law would be strictly enforced here.

The explanations of the police, however, fell on a number of deaf ears, and in Narberth a number of residents who were not caught in the dragnet expressed indignation at what they termed unwarranted exercise of authority by the cops.

One local man, reading of the incident in a Philadelphia paper, penned a critical article for publication in "Our Town." Concerning the incident, in which he had no direct part, he says:

"Pretty much all the trouble in life, insofar as it pertains to human relationships, comes as a result of extremists, men and women who know no middle course, and who press their own will and way under all circumstances."

"When this dangerous point of view governs an official procedure, then the peace of the community at once becomes involved and a species of muckrism takes the place of reasonable law and order."

TO LECTURE IN ARDMORE

Robert Stanley Ross, C. S., of New York City, will deliver a lecture entitled "Christian Science: The Christianity of the Bible," on Saturday evening, January 7th, at 8:15 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Woman's Club, Ardmore avenue, Ardmore, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Ardmore. This lecture is free and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

WANTS MEMORIAL STAMP

Malcolm H. Ganser, of Norristown, in a letter to the newspapers urges that the Government issue a Valley Forge memorial stamp this year. While the Post Office Department is not eager to make these special issues, concerted demand often sways the officials, and will be resorted to in this case.

The cold weather of the past week was hard on hoboes and like itinerant voyagers passing through Lower Merion. Many appeared at the Lower Merion police headquarters in Ardmore to ask lodging overnight.

Sworn in as Borough Councilmen at Monday Meeting.

Edward S. Haws, former postmaster, and active Democrat, who was sworn in as Councilman Monday to succeed E. C. Griswold, new Real Estate Assessor.

Clifford W. Bates, who was sworn in for his first full term. He was appointed to fill the unexpired term of A. Perry Redifer, deceased. He is an engineer.

William H. Fretz, of Chestnut avenue, who took office for another term at the re-organization meeting. Mr. Fretz is an official of the Union News Company.

Council Elects Leitch President at Its Reorganization Meeting

Haws, Fretz and Bates Sworn in at Ceremonies at Borough Hall Monday Night.

At the reorganization meeting of the Borough Council on January 2, Daniel Leitch was unanimously elected president of the board. Mr. Leitch has been a member of Council for the past 10 years and this is his third term in office. He is the senior Councilman and since the death of A. Perry Redifer has headed the important Finance Committee.

He has always been active in local affairs. In addition to heading the annual drive of the Welfare Federation as local chairman, he has filled important posts in the Civic Association and the Y. M. C. A. when these organizations were active in the community life. During the war Mr. Leitch assisted in raising over the Liberty Loan drives in the borough. He is treasurer of the Merion Title and Trust Co. of Ardmore.

The meeting was called and organized by E. C. Griswold, the outgoing president, in the absence of Burgess Frye. The first business was the swearing in of the re-elected members, Clifford W. Bates and William H. Fretz, and of the only new member, Edward S. Haws, who takes the place made vacant by Mr. Griswold's retirement. Then the unanimous election of Mr. Leitch took place, whereupon Mr. Griswold administered the oath of office to the new president and resigned the chair in his favor. Charles V. Noel and Walton N. Wentz were then re-elected to their positions of clerk and treasurer, respectively.

Upon taking the chair Mr. Leitch spoke as follows: "I want to express my thanks to you for the honor you have conferred upon me and to assure you of my appreciation of the confidence reposed in me by electing me as your presiding officer. I will endeavor to discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability. I have just completed 10 years of service as Councilman, and I count them as happy, if not more so, than any decade that preceded it; and made so by the fact that no political factions or groups exist in our membership. We are all animated by the same purpose—that of giving to the residents of Narberth as good a business administration of their affairs as our best judgment dictates. Let us always keep it that way. Another reason that it is a pleasure to serve on this body is that we enjoy the confidence of the community. I know of no governing body that enjoys this confidence to such an extent as that of the Borough Council of Narberth."

"As senior member of this body it gives me great pleasure to welcome to membership our old friend and fellow-townsmen, Mr. Haws. Mr. Haws, it was your privilege to serve the residents of Narberth in another capacity which you did very creditably. I know you will render service as Councilman with the same fidelity which characterized your work as Postmaster."

Mr. Haws replied modestly but acceptably in a few words. The first meeting of the new Council is scheduled to be an important one, as President Leitch will announce his committees. The 1928 budget is also up for approval and the new tax rate is to be announced. As the new committees have not been chosen there will be no committee meeting this week.

Mr. Griswold, though a retiring member of the board, assures them of his continued interest and support. As a member of the Council for the last six years his knowledge and experience will make him a valuable addition to the "Council Auxiliary," the faithful non-member attendants of the board meetings.

OPEN INSURANCE OFFICE

Trotter Brothers, insurance agents with offices in Philadelphia, have recently opened a branch office in Narberth, in the Narberth National Bank Building.

The firm is under the direction of Messrs. Thomas C. Trotter, Jr., and Lindley H. Trotter, both residents of Woodside avenue and prominent in the affairs of the borough for many years.

The new office is maintained exclusively for insurance service—no other associated activity being involved. A feature of the office is a small collection of fire markers—metal plates attached to buildings protected by certain companies in years gone by. These markers are found in many designs, and at the Philadelphia office of Trotter Brothers, the walls are hung with a large and interesting collection.

Because her husband, it was alleged, gambled excessively and had an "ungovernable and uncontrollable temper," Guldah B. Moore was granted a divorce from Horace P. Moore, of Narberth, Monday, at Norristown.

TREE STARTS BLAZE

A Christmas tree proved to be bad luck for James Oesterbro, 219 Williams avenue, on December 30, at 7:30 P. M. Electric wiring on the tree caused it to explode, setting fire to all the furniture in the room. One chemical truck was used to extinguish the blaze. The total damage was estimated at $800—$300 of it being to the house, and $500 to its contents. The building, a two-story affair, was insured at $5000, but there was no insurance on the contents. The property is valued at $6500, and its contents at $2000.

On January 2nd the fire fighters were called out for a chimney fire at 4 P. M. There was no damage.

CARD PARTY

A card party given by the Welfare Committee of the Woman's Community Club will be held on January 16, 1928, at 2 P. M. sharp, at the home of the chairman, Mrs. George Norman Gill, 216 Dudley avenue. Tickets, 50 cents. The proceeds are to be devoted to furthering the work of the committee.

OTHER FIRESIDE NOTES

The New Year can be ushered in so many different ways that one must stop and think just what he should do to celebrate the occasion in the most fitting manner. There's midnight shows, dances starting around 11:30, and joining other merry-makers in parading up and down the streets. Personally, though, we like to go to a neighbor's home and spend the evening having a rollicking good time, with a delicious supper served at midnight. Several Narberth folk entertained friends New Year's Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Leins, Jr., of 348 Meeting House lane, had as their guests for the evening, Mr. and Mrs. John Albrecht, Mr. and Mrs. George McCrea, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Albrecht, Miss Edna Mander and Mr. J. Harkness.

At the Theater

There has seldom been a screen story of such a vital nature which developed so naturally yet retained a remarkable edge of thrilling surprise action as "Not for Publication," the feature picture at the Narberth Theater on Monday and Tuesday. A virile action picture this film centers about the building of a great dam in the West. The appealing love theme about which the action revolves is of an unusually wholesome nature. Ralph Ince plays the leading role and directs as well. A newcomer to the screen, Jola Mendez, plays the feminine lead.

Monte Blue, the man with the deceptive name, holds the boards at the Narberth Theater on Wednesday and Thursday in "The Bush Leaguer." This picture is said to be a sure cure for 'em.

Hilarious humor features "Very Confidential," the screen vehicle to appear at the Narberth Theater next Friday and Saturday with Madge Bellamy in the title role. This picture is said to contain more chuckles per foot of film than any Miss Bellamy has appeared in for months. The story, which centers about the every-day life of a lively girl employed as a clerk in a sporting goods store, was written by James McGinness and Randall H. Faye. The background is furnished by the San Bernardino range in California. Miss Bellamy's wardrobe includes some ultra-modern sports costumes.

HERE AND HEREABOUTS

The police are no doubt entitled to their publicity, but it would seem, if they are to recognize their proper part in a democratic scheme of things, it ought to be confined to their achievements and not include threats of what they are going to do, even when the thing involved is of such tremendous importance as an alert changing of automobile tags. As it is, we were advised that as soon as midnight boomed the advent of the new year the roads would swarm with special corps and special cars and woe to the hapless ones who had overlooked doing precisely and exactly what the law required of him. It might be said that the purpose of the announcement was to save embarrassment and a possible fine for those who transgressed, but it would be far better to punish the offenders, if such indeed they were, than to fail to recognize that the police department is supposed to remain an inconspicuous part of our procedure and that it is organized to serve and not to regulate the community. We don't believe Captain Donaghey ever lost sight of that fact.

What Wohler has done for the playground, planting hundreds of shade and flowering trees, is only a forerunner of what he is likely to do if he is spared to live, and we can all agree that he looks good for another 50 years, anyhow. And where is our usually perspicacious Burgomaster that he has not drafted this splendid citizen to help on the Recreation Board, for few could serve as well and none would be more steadfast in bringing the grounds to their ultimate perfection. As the record stands now, no man has done more, as this generous gift of trees only supplements his work in leveling the grounds in the early days, and without his aid the project would have been delayed indefinitely.

It is not always easy to get along with Wohler, as his success indicates he has every reason to support his own way of procedure, and he is not always willing to bow quickly to another viewpoint, but he's tractable enough when his confidence is established, and when his interest is once secured in a worth-while endeavor there is no stint to the manner in which he will support it with his time and money. He will probably be writing to the editor that he is not particularly desirous of having his will and his way publicly discussed, and so if you see a letter from him next week at variance with these sentiments this will be fair notice not to pay any attention to it.

There is no doubt that Narberth has made a complete turnover during the last 10 years, and we will have to agree that everything which has occurred has not been the best thing for the borough from a residential viewpoint. Nevertheless, the place as it is now will attract more people and furnish a wider market for real estate than a town of more conservative development and we may expect a gradual replacement of the original popu-

Miss Ziler is a member of the graduating class of the Allegheny Hospital Training School, and the engagement was announced at a banquet given in honor of the class last week.

The cold clear weather of the past week which froze all the ponds brought out most of the ice skating enthusiasts.

Noticed on Haverford College skating pond during the past week were many Narberth boys and girls, among them being Betty Cook, Ruth Lee Cook, Jane Wheeler, Janet Caldwell, Kitty Trowbridge, Katherine Douglass, Alice Monks, Eleanor Riley, Alice Maguire, Edith Maguire, Elizabeth Terry, Ellen Pray, Mary Anderson, Evelyn Jefferis, Ruth Hopkins, Stoll Titus, Jimmy Stevenson, Jimmy Gowland, Jeane Gowland, Tom Elwood, Carl Metzger, Malcolm Forsythe, Elizabeth McGee, Virginia Eyre, Susan Reeves, Charles Clegg, Peter Eidenberg, Carrie Louise Douglass, Virginia Douglass, Cynthia and Martha Metzger, Ned Cunningham, Bud Compton, George and Robert Torchiana, Katherine Jane Miller, Marian Bottoms, Louise Jones, George Burgess and Wilfred Whittingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce E. Beyer, of Chicago, have returned to their home after spending the holidays as the guests of Mrs. Beyer's sister, Miss Margaret McDevitt, of 109 Windsor avenue.

Mrs. Arthur K. Le Fevre will be hostess to the members of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church when it meets next Monday, January 9, at her home, 9 Sabine avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Agee, former residents of Avon road, have moved to Missouri.

lation and a greater emphasis of the apartment abodes. The convenient sections of Philadelphia have long since succumbed to the more "liberal" way of living and the original settlers who continued to stress the home plan had to move to other and less accessible neighborhoods. So it is also with our own convenient suburbs, and a very decided change in things may be expected here during the next five years.

Meanwhile, it is interesting to note how "grown-up" we appear to be when we see our boys, born or bred in the town, blossoming forth as full-fledged merchants. The latest contribution to the town facilities is the very fine delicatessen store which the Hamer brothers have opened on Haverford avenue in the establishment formerly occupied by the irresistible Walter Case, who is now in larger quarters across the street. Harry and Frank Hamer were both born in Narberth and Howard first saw the light hard by in Wynnewood. Reports indicate they have gotten off to an excellent start, as 250 customers are said to have come to buy on the very first day, a figure which might afford a vivid contrast to the time when Howard Davis, for instance, put out his shingle on our Main street years ago. And neither did we fail to notice, on this eventful first day, that Mother Hamer was there, working just as hard as the rest, and that affords an additional reason why we should all wish the lads exceedingly well in their new venture, as indeed we all do.

Philadelphia's tax rate goes up and ours goes down, which is just as well with business as it is and salaried incomes less than two years ago. When things improve, however, we might well consider the wonderful possibilities of a $100,000 bond issue. Nothing brings a greater dividend than taxes well administered and in Narberth we sure do get full value.

HERD SIXTH HIGHEST

During November the Ayrshire herd of 103 cows owned by Percival Roberts, Jr., and nationally known as Penshurst Farm, at Narberth, averaged 703 pounds of 4.29 per cent. milk, 30.57 pounds fat, the sixth highest average among all herds tested in the United States under the rules of the Ayrshire herd test, according to W. A. Kyle, of the National Ayrshire Association of Brandon, Vermont. Penshurst Farm cattle ranked first as to total number producing in excess of "Fifty-pound-fat" during the month, 20 cows having exceeded this amount. The high cow in the herd was Penshurst Belle, that gave 1668 pounds milk, 74.39 pounds of butter-fat. Furthermore, it is of interest to know that of the 11 sires having three or more daughters with productions above 50 pounds fat, three are owned by Penshurst Farm, while several others now owned in different sections of the country were bred at this farm.

Lancaster Road, Once a Private Turnpike, Had Many Ups and Downs

Lancaster Pike, which runs through one edge of Lower Merion, is now a State highway and well paved, but many Main Line residents still remember the time when it was a privately owned turnpike, full of ruts and the cause of much warm language. Originally one of the wonders of the country, the old pike became unprofitable to its backers when railroads came into being, was allowed to disintegrate and received no repairing until purchased by the State.

"Immediately after the Revolution," says Girard, who discussed the ups and downs of the historic highway recently in his column, "they began to talk about a great road to the West from Philadelphia. This was then the national capital and the country's biggest city.

"Lancaster, then a town of about 3000 people, was the largest inland center in America. To join the national capital with the inland metropolis seemed a natural thing to do.

"But it required years of agitation before the work was done. Finally the State Legislature granted a charter to the Philadelphia and Lancaster Turnpike Company, which thus obtained the right to convert this into a privately owned road.

"It was about 69 miles long and it was ordered to be 50 feet wide. "Only 21 feet in the center was to be paved with broken stone. The road was finished in 1794 at a cost of $6630 a mile.

"It was the wonder of the whole United States, and quite properly so, since it had cost $464,000.

"That was then by far the greatest sum ever expended upon any one project, public work or building program in this country.

"No canal had then cost that amount. No railroad existed in the entire land."

"Wall street never saw greater excitement than occurred in Philadelphia and Lancaster the day the Turnpike stock was sold.

"The stock was $300 a share. First come, first served, was the rule in each city. United States Senator William Bingham, of Philadelphia, then American Croesus, was president of the company and got a large block of the stock.

"Everybody thought the Turnpike would be a bonanza and tried to get a piece of it. And everybody was right. "One hundred years ago, or in 1897, the company paid $72 a share in dividends upon the stock which had been sold for $300.

"There were nine toll-gates along the route.

"That was the era of the famous Conestoga wagons which came originally from Lancaster county or from the banks of the noble Conestoga Creek.

Toll Charges Varied.

"Toll charges varied according to the size of the teams. An ordinary two-horse vehicle paid 25 cents to go about 10 miles. Many thousand Conestoga wagons annually rolled over the Lancaster pike—then and for decades America's greatest road.

"The thing was a gold mine for the owners for the first quarter century and a little more, and then came the railroads to knock it into a cocked hat.

"With the advent of the iron horse the old Conestogas began to vanish swiftly and with them the stream of silver which had flowed steadily into the company coffers at the toll-gates.

"The past generation saw that once magnificent highway degenerate into a cause for curses.

"Too poor to keep the road in good repair the company, just 60 years ago, sold the section from Philadelphia to Paoli for $8000—scarcely more than one mile had cost.

"A. J. Cassatt headed the company which bought that portion of the old

Lancaster pike.

"Ten years ago the State of Pennsylvania purchased that same section from Philadelphia to Paoli for $165,000. The section reaching into Lancaster was purchased for $90,000.

"That ended the toll-gates forever. The fine old pike was remade and it now forms one of the most beautiful reaches of the Lincoln highway, which spans the American continent."

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED

In the early days of Lumbering it was customary to fell the giant White Pine trees, cut only the select logs—float them down stream and give them the water cure for about six months to two years. Then run them through (in many cases) a portable saw mill, slice them into nice, soft cork boards—another six months to one and a half years of air drying, and they were ready for Foundry Patterns, Sash, Doors, Corner Cupboards and many other old stand-bys.

But in those days most of the Pine Lumber came from Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Today—Similar giants are dropped—skidded or conveyed into a most modern band sawmill, where they are very uniformly sawn, carefully graded, loaded on trucks and placed in up-to-the-minute dry kilns for a few days or week. Then shipped about three thousand miles to our yard—all within a possible sixty days.

The old reliable WHITE PINE, with its rare beauty and texture, in any grade, is always with us.

POLICE GET THANKS

Get Letters From Recipients of Xmas Baskets—Riot With Children.

Several letters of thanks were received this week by the Lower Merion police for the 29 baskets containing turkeys and provisions for Christmas dinner which they sent poor families in the township and Narberth. Other recipients of the gift baskets, many of whom could not write, came personally to Ardmore headquarters to give their thanks or sent messages by district officers.

In addition to sending food to the various families, the police assembled many of the poor children at headquarters on Christmas morning before the tree in the Magistrate's Court and gave them presents of candy and toys.

"There were 80 of them here," Superintendent Smith said describing the scene, "and we sure had a time with them. We ran out of supplies and had to take up another collection from those around headquarters on Christmas morning to take care for all of the kids. Then we took them over to the Ardmore Legion house, where they were given more presents. Some got lost enroute and we had a great job getting them all together again."

"We had our greatest fun when it came time to take them home," he concluded. "We had driven them over in motor cars and one little mite refused to walk back, though her home was only a few blocks away. She came in a car, she claimed, and she insisted that she was going to ride home in one."

Mr. Hamilton is a director of the Huntingdon National Bank, freight and passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad and secretary of the Rotary Club of that city. He is intensely interested in boys, having assisted over one hundred of them to successful

PATCHWORK QUILTS

Book on Subject Given to Library by Fortnightly Club.

Each year the Fortnightly Club of Narberth, a group of women meeting to discuss cultural subjects, have given to the library some valuable book of specialized interest. Last year it was a book on old china and porcelain, the year before a book on Oriental rugs. These books are too expensive for the library to purchase out of its limited funds, but find constant use when once placed on the shelves.

As a companion to these books the Fortnightly Club has given this year a charming book on "Quilts, Their Story and How to Make Them," by Marie D. Webster. The book is well illustrated and lists all the familiar patterns of patchwork and quilting, such as the Log Cabin, Drunkard's Path, Tulip, Blazing Star and the interesting "Autograph" pattern. Unfortunately the book is not indexed, but the library plans to have this done, believing that the index will add to the value of the book.

Other new books added to the library this month are: "Glorious Adventure," by Richard Halliburton.

"Bridge of San Luis Rey," by Thornton Wilder.

"Lazarus Laughed," a play, by Eugene O'Neill.

"Canary Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine.

"Passenger to Folkestone," by J. S. Fletcher.

"Daughter of the Samurai," by Sugimoto.

"Bellamy Trial," by Frances Noyes Hart.

"Camels," by Daniel Streeter.

"Best Plays of 1926-27," by Burns Mantle.

"Best Short Stories of 1927," by E. J. O'Brien.

"Interference," by Roland Pertwee.

"Vanguard," by Arnold Bennett.

"Witness at the Window," by Charles Barry.

"Eighth Wonder, the Holland Tunnel."

"The extraordinary methods of the Lower Merion police on New Year's day, in enforcing the literal word of the automobile code, comes close to a very shocking degree of fanaticism, and we behold a shameful record of arrests and fines and costs that brings bewilderment and chagrin to every clear-thinking citizen who is solicitous for the continued good repute of the Main Line section.

"Such boorish behavior never did belong in this neighborhood and there is no place for it now."

One of those taken with old tags was Harry Stuhldreher, one of the famous "four horsemen" of Notre Dame football fame, who is at present coach of the Villanova eleven, and in business in Haverford.

L. M. PASSERS COP
FOURTH CAGE TILT

Collingdale High is Victim
on Tuesday Afternoon;
Score 31-24.

This afternoon in the Lower Merion High gym Coach Anderson's Maroon and White basketball five takes on its first Suburban League opponent, Upper Darby. The Ardmore quintet is unbeaten as yet, having won all its first four games with plenty to spare. On the other hand, Upper Darby tasted the sting of defeat when it was beaten by Radnor last Tuesday night.

Upper Darby really has a formidable five, one that should cause plenty of trouble throughout the league. In its game against Radnor, it missed a great many easy shots at the net, the ball absolutely refusing to drop through for the necessary points. The uncertainty of basketball might have these same shots creaking up points, and if that be true then Lower Merion will have a tartar on its hands this afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon the Maroon and White five added Collingdale

to its three other wins when they won a loosely played game on the home floor at Ardmore. Coach Anderson started his usual lineup of Lockwood and Kohlhas, forwards; Deubler, center; Cook and Mandes, guards; but their play appeared a bit ragged at times, no doubt due to the lack of sufficient practice during the holidays.

Lockwood was the high scorer for his team, scoring three field goals and four fouls. Cook was next with two field tosses and the same number of fouls. Mandes and Deubler also had two baskets each, with Doug Flemming adding two foul tries.

On the whole, the Lower Merion team did not show its usual brilliant play, but with the hard drill Coach Anderson ordered for the rest of the week the passers should be in proper form for the game with Upper Darby this afternoon.

SNOW IS SPEAKER AT ROTARY DINNER

Urges That Members Keep in Touch With Younger Generation.

SHAND TELLS OF TRIP

E. H. Snow, principal of the Lower Merion Junior High School, was speaker at the meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Tuesday night. He chose "Fellowship" as his topic.

The meeting was informal in tone and was held under the direction of the fellowship committee of the club, of which Fred Walzer is chairman. Preceding Mr. Snow's address, W. Russell Green was called on for a few words, which resolved themselves into a brief recital of war experiences.

Following Mr. Green on the program, Mr. Snow took up the war topic and told the members of some of the interesting and amusing experiences he had encountered while a top sergeant in the coast artillery. "We are busy and prosperous," he said, "but must find the opportunity to devote part of our time and energy to others. We must keep in contact with our fellowmen, particularly with the younger generation, who need our friendship and counsel."

The speaker told of a New England town where he had spent some time. There the residents live within their own shells and seem to lose all sense of human fellowship. As a result the town is dying—in business, social life and population.

Lindbergh is loved because of his sympathy, Mr. Snow said. When he is spoken to, he is interested; when he is shown something, he pays more than formal attention to it. These qualities of sympathy and respect for those with whom he comes in contact are signs of the fellowship which is needed everywhere.

"Take time in life to know the other fellow," he urged, "and learn the good that is in him. Stop a while for friendships and laughter; it will solve many a problem."

Alexander C. Shand, Jr., the club's newlywed and recently returned tourist, gave the members a brief account of his trip to England, Scotland, France and Italy. Scotland he found chill and bleak. London was his favorite city.

In France there seemed to be a universal feeling of hatred among the citizens for Americans, and this created an atmosphere which did not make his stay there at all pleasant. At Nice Mr. and Mrs. Shand met Carroll Downes, a former Burgess of Narberth and a high official in the Durant Motor Company. Mrs. Downes had been ill at the resort for some time, and both she and Mr. Downes seemed eager to leave the land of anti-American feeling.

HOME AND SCHOOL HEAD TO ADDRESS MOTHERS

Discussion and Reception to Follow
Mrs. Reeves' Talk.

Narberth citizens who are interested in the schools are to have a real treat on Monday evening, January 9th.

Mrs. A. H. Reeves, the National President of Congress of Parents and Teachers and the President of the International Federation of Home and School, will speak on "What the home should expect from the school and the school should expect from the home."

The Mothers' Council of Narberth is very fortunate in having a person of Mrs. Reeves' experience and prominence in educational work, and her subject is one of interest to everyone.

Parents whose children are in public or private schools in Narberth or elsewhere will be welcome at this meeting of Mothers' Council.

An informal discussion will follow the address, after which there will be a reception, giving an opportunity to meet Mrs. Reeves personally. The meeting is held in Narberth Junior High School at 8 o'clock Monday evening, January 9th.

POLICE CATCH 42 IN TAG ROUND-UP

Neglectful Motorists Are
Fined $13.50 at Ardmore
Hearings.

MANY PROTESTS HEARD

A total of 42 motorists were arrested by Lower Merion police this week for using 1927 automobile license tags over time. The haul began at 9 A. M. Sunday and continued until Tuesday, when the last two offenders against the State motor vehicle law were brought in.

In a number of cases the motorists had new tags in their cars, but through forgetfulness had neglected to put them on their machines. No leniency was shown however, and everyone caught was escorted to the Ardmore police station where they were given hearings before Squire I. Warner Arthur; fined $10 and assessed costs of $3.50.

Those who had their new plates with them were then allowed to place them on their machines and depart. The others were required to leave their cars at the police station until they secured 1928 tags.

Of the 42 arrested, 30 were brought in on New Year's day. Others kept appearing, and eight more were arrested on Monday, and a final two on Tuesday.

Those motorists caught early on New Year's day were indignant when they found the police meant business and they would be forced to pay fines for their forgetfulness. Police in the city and in nearby communities had let them pass with a warning.

Replying to this criticism Police Superintendent Smith pointed out the State law decreed that no 1927 tags could be used after the last day of the old year, and in order that all motorists might have a chance to change in time, new plates were allowed on machines beginning December 17. He also called attention to a statement broadcast through local newspapers last week, two days before the end of the year, which gave warning that the law would be strictly enforced here.

The explanations of the police, however, fell on a number of deaf ears, and in Narberth a number of residents who were not caught in the dragnet expressed indignation at what they termed unwarranted exercise of authority by the cops.

One local man, reading of the incident in a Philadelphia paper, penned a critical article for publication in "Our Town." Concerning the incident, in which he had no direct part, he says:

"Pretty much all the trouble in life, insofar as it pertains to human relationships, comes as a result of extremists, men and women who know no middle course, and who press their own will and way under all circumstances."

"When this dangerous point of view governs an official procedure, then the peace of the community at once becomes involved and a species of muckrakerism takes the place of reasonable law and order."

TO LECTURE IN ARDMORE

Robert Stanley Ross, C. S., of New York City, will deliver a lecture entitled "Christian Science: The Christianity of the Bible," on Saturday evening, January 7th, at 8:15 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Woman's Club, Ardmore avenue, Ardmore, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Ardmore. This lecture is free and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

WANTS MEMORIAL STAMP

Malcolm H. Ganser, of Norristown, in a letter to the newspapers urges that the Government issue a Valley Forge memorial stamp this year. While the Post Office Department is not eager to make these special issues, concerted demand often sways the officials, and will be resorted to in this case.

The cold weather of the past week was hard on hoboes and like itinerant voyagers passing through Lower Merion. Many appeared at the Lower Merion police headquarters in Ardmore to ask lodging overnight.

Sworn in as Borough Councilmen at Monday Meeting.

Edward S. Haws, former postmaster, and active Democrat, who was sworn in as Councilman Monday to succeed E. C. Griswold, new Real Estate Assessor.

Clifford W. Bates, who was sworn in for his first full term. He was appointed to fill the unexpired term of A. Perry Redifer, deceased. He is an engineer.

William H. Fretz, of Chestnut avenue, who took office for another term at the re-organization meeting. Mr. Fretz is an official of the Union News Company.

Council Elects Leitch President at Its Reorganization Meeting

Haws, Fretz and Bates Sworn in at Ceremonies at Borough Hall Monday Night.

At the reorganization meeting of Borough Council on January 2, Daniel Leitch was unanimously elected president of the board. Mr. Leitch has been a member of Council for the past 10 years and this is his third term in office. He is the senior Councilman and since the death of A. Perry Redifer has headed the important Finance Committee.

He has always been active in local affairs. In addition to heading the annual drive of the Welfare Federation as local chairman, he has filled important posts in the Civic Association and the Y. M. C. A. when these organizations were active in the community life. During the war Mr. Leitch assisted in taking over the Liberty Loan drives in the borough. He is treasurer of the Merion Title and Trust Co. of Ardmore.

The meeting was called and organized by E. C. Griswold, the outgoing president, in the absence of Burgess Frye. The first business was the swearing in of the re-elected members, Clifford W. Bates and William H. Fretz, and of the only new member, Edward S. Haws, who takes the place made vacant by Mr. Griswold's retirement. Then the unanimous election of Mr. Leitch took place, whereupon Mr. Griswold administered the oath of office to the new president and resigned the chair in his favor. Charles V. Noel and Walton N. Wentz were then re-elected to their positions of clerk and treasurer, respectively.

Upon taking the chair Mr. Leitch spoke as follows: "I want to express my thanks to you for the honor you have conferred upon me and to assure you of my appreciation of the confidence reposed in me by electing me as your presiding officer. I will endeavor to

"As senior member of this body it gives me great pleasure to welcome to membership our old friend and fellow-townsmen, Mr. Haws, Mr. Bates, it was your privilege to serve the residents of Narberth in another capacity which you did very creditably. I know you will render service as Councilman with the same fidelity which characterized your work as Postmaster."

Mr. Haws replied modestly but acceptably in a few words.

The first meeting of the new Council is scheduled to be an important one, as President Leitch will announce his committees. The 1928 budget is also up for approval and the new tax rate is to be announced. As the new committees have not been chosen there will be no committee meeting this week.

Mr. Griswold, though a retiring member of the board, assures them of his continued interest and support. As a member of the Council for the last six years his knowledge and experience will make him a valuable addition to the "Council Auxiliary," the faithful non-member attendants of the board meetings.

OPEN INSURANCE OFFICE

Trotter Brothers, insurance agents with offices in Philadelphia, have recently opened a branch office in Narberth, in the Narberth National Bank Building.

The firm is under the direction of Messrs. Thomas C. Trotter, Jr., and Lindley H. Trotter, both residents of Woodside avenue and prominent in the affairs of the borough for many years.

The new office is maintained exclusively for insurance service—no other associated activity being involved. A feature of the office is a small collection of fire markers—metal plates attached to buildings protected by certain companies in years gone by. These markers are found in many designs, and at the Philadelphia office of Trotter Brothers, the walls are hung with a large and interesting collection.

Because her husband, it was alleged, gambled excessively and had an "ungovernable and uncontrollable temper," Guldah B. Moore was granted a divorce from Horace P. Moore, of Narberth, Monday, at Norristown.

TREE STARTS BLAZE

A Christmas tree proved to be bad luck for James Oesterbro, 219 Williams avenue, on December 30, at 7:30 P. M. Electric wiring on the tree caused it to explode, setting fire to all the furniture in the room. One chemical truck was used to extinguish the blaze. The total damage was estimated at $800—$300 of it being to the house, and $500 to its contents. The building, a two-story affair, was insured at $5000, but there was no insurance on the contents. The property is valued at $6500, and its contents at $2000.

On January 2nd the fire fighters were called out for a chimney fire at 4 P. M. There was no damage.

CARD PARTY

A card party given by the Welfare Committee of the Woman's Community Club will be held on January 16, 1928, at 2 P. M. sharp, at the home of the chairman, Mrs. George Norman Gill, 216 Dudley avenue. Tickets, 50 cents. The proceeds are to be devoted to furthering the work of the committee.

OTHER FIRESIDE NOTES

The New Year can be ushered in so many different ways that one must stop and think just what he should do to celebrate the occasion in the most fitting manner. There's midnight shows, dances starting around 11:30, and joining other merry-makers in parading up and down the streets. Personally, though, we like to go to a neighbor's home and spend the evening having a rollicking good time, with a delicious supper served at midnight. Several Narberth folk entertained friends New Year's Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Leins, Jr., of 348 Meeting House lane, had as their guests for the evening, Mr. and Mrs. John Albrecht, Mr. and Mrs. George McCrea, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Albrecht, Miss Edna Mander and Mr. J. Harkness.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Haws, of 107 Dudley avenue, entertained 10 guests Saturday evening.

At the Theater

There has seldom been a screen story of such a vital nature which developed so naturally yet retained a remarkable edge of thrilling surprise action as "Not for Publication," the feature picture at the Narberth Theater on Monday and Tuesday. A virile action picture this film centers about the building of a great dam in the West. The appealing love theme about which the action revolves is of an unusually wholesome nature. Ralph Ince plays the leading role and directs as well. A newcomer to the screen, Jola Mendez, plays the feminine lead.

Monte Blue, the man with the deceptive name, holds the boards at the Narberth Theater on Wednesday and Thursday in "The Bush Leaguer." This picture is said to be a sure cure for "em."

Hilarious humor features "Very Confidential," the screen vehicle to appear at the Narberth Theater next Friday and Saturday with Madge Bellamy in the title role. This picture is said to contain more chuckles per foot of film than any Miss Bellamy has appeared in for months. The story, which centers about the every-day life of a lively girl employed as a clerk in a sporting goods store, was written by James McGinness and Randall H. Faye. The background is furnished by the San Bernardino range in California. Miss Bellamy's wardrobe includes some ultra-modern sports costumes.

HERE AND HEREABOUTS

Editor.

The police are no doubt entitled to their publicity, but it would seem, if they are to recognize their proper part in a democratic scheme of things, it ought to be confined to their achievements and not include threats of what they are going to do, even when the thing involved is of such tremendous importance as an alert changing of automobile tags. As it is, we were advised that as soon as midnight boomed the advent of the new year the roads would swarm with special corps and special cars and woe to the hapless ones who had overlooked doing precisely and exactly what the law required of him. It might be said that the purpose of the announcement was to save embarrassment and a possible fine for those who transgressed, but it would be far better to punish the offenders, if such indeed they were, than to fail to recognize that the police department is supposed to remain an inconspicuous part of our procedure and that it is organized to serve and not to regulate the community. We don't believe Captain Donaghey ever lost sight of that fact.

What Wohler has done for the playground, planting hundreds of shade and flowering trees, is only a forerunner of what he is likely to do if he is spared to live, and we can all agree that he looks good for another 50 years, anyhow. And where is our usually perspicacious Burgomaster that he has not drafted this splendid citizen to help on the Recreation Board, for few could serve as well and none would be more steadfast in bringing the grounds to their ultimate perfection. As the record stands now, no man has done more, as this generous gift of trees only supplements his work in leveling the grounds in the early days, and without his aid the project would have been delayed indefinitely.

It is not always easy to get along with Wohler, as his success indicates he has every reason to support his own way of procedure, and he is not always willing to bow quickly to another viewpoint, but he's tractable enough when his confidence is established, and when his interest is once secured in a worth-while endeavor there is no stint to the manner in which he will support it with his time and money. He will probably be writing to the editor that he is not particularly desirous of having his will and his way publicly discussed, and so if you see a letter from him next week at variance with these sentiments this will be fair notice not to pay any attention to it.

There is no doubt that Narberth has made a complete turnover during the last 10 years, and we will have to agree that everything which has occurred has not been the best thing for the borough from a residential viewpoint. Nevertheless, the place as it is now will attract more people and furnish a wider market for real estate than a town of more conservative development and we may expect a gradual replacement of the original population and a greater emphasis of the apartment abodes. The convenient sections of Philadelphia have long since succumbed to the more "liberal" way of living and the original settlers who continued to stress the home plan had to move to other and less accessible neighborhoods. So it is also with our own convenient suburbs, and a very decided change in things may be expected here during the next five years.

Miss Ziler is a member of the graduating class of the Allegheny Hospital Training School, and the engagement was announced at a banquet given in honor of the class last week.

The cold clear weather of the past week which froze all the ponds brought out most of the ice skating enthusiasts. Noticed on Haverford College skating pond during the past week were many Narberth boys and girls, among them being Betty Cook, Ruth Lee Cook, Jane Wheeler, Janet Caldwell, Kitty Trowbridge, Katherine Douglass, Alice Monks, Eleanor Riley, Alice Maguire, Edith Maguire, Elizabeth Terry, Ellen Pray, Mary Anderson, Evelyn Jefferis, Ruth Hopkins, Stoll Titus, Jimmy Stevenson, Jimmy Gowland, Jean Gowland, Tom Elwood, Carl Metzger, Malcolm Forsythe, Elizabeth McGee, Virginia Eyrre, Susan Reeves, Charles Clegg, Peter Eidenberg, Carrie Louise Douglass, Virginia Douglass, Cynthia and Martha Metzger, Ned Cunningham, Bud Compton, George and Robert Torchiana, Katherine Jane Miller, Marian Bottoms, Louise Jones, George Burgess and Wilfred Whittingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Agee, former residents of Avon road, have moved to Missouri.

Meanwhile, it is interesting to note how "grown-up" we appear to be when we see our boys, born or bred in the town, blossoming forth as full-fledged merchants. The latest contribution to the town facilities is the very fine delicatessen store which the Hamer brothers have opened on Haverford avenue in the establishment formerly occupied by the irresistible Walter Case, who is now in larger quarters across the street. Harry and Frank Hamer were both born in Narberth and Howard first saw the light hard by in Wynnewood. Reports indicate they have gotten off to an excellent start, as 250 customers are said to have come to buy on the very first day, a figure which might afford a vivid contrast to the time when Howard Davis, for instance, put out his shingle on our Main street years ago. And neither did we fail to notice, on this eventful first day, that Mother Hamer was there, working just as hard as the rest, and that affords an additional reason why we should all wish the lads exceedingly well in their new venture, as indeed we all do.

Philadelphia's tax rate goes up and ours goes down, which is just as well with business as it is and salaried incomes less than two years ago. When things improve, however, we might well consider the wonderful possibilities of a $100,000 bond issue. Nothing brings a greater dividend than taxes well administered and in Narberth we sure do get full value.

THE SPECTATOR.

HERD SIXTH HIGHEST

During November the Ayrshire herd of 103 cows owned by Percival Roberts, Jr., and nationally known as Penshurst Farm, at Narberth, averaged 703 pounds of 4.29 per cent. milk, 30.57 pounds fat, the sixth highest average among all herds tested in the United States under the rules of the Ayrshire herd test, according to W. A. Kyle, of the National Ayrshire Association of Brandon, Vermont. Penshurst Farm cattle ranked first as to total number producing in excess of "Fifty-pound-fat" during the month, 20 cows having exceeded this amount. The high cow in the herd was Penshurst Belle, that gave 1668 pounds milk, 74.39 pounds of butter-fat. Furthermore, it is of interest to know that of the 11 sires having three or more daughters with productions above 50 pounds fat, three are owned by Penshurst Farm, while several others now owned in different sections of the country were bred at this farm.

Lancaster Road, Once a Private Turnpike, Had Many Ups and Downs

Lancaster Pike, which runs through one edge of Lower Merion, is now a State highway and well paved, but many Main Line residents still remember the time when it was a privately owned turnpike, full of ruts and the cause of much warm language. Originally one of the wonders of the country, the old pike became unprofitable to its backers when railroads came into being, was allowed to disintegrate and received no repairing until purchased by the State.

"Immediately after the Revolution," says Girard, who discussed the ups and downs of the historic highway recently in his column, "they began to talk about a 'great road to the West' from Philadelphia. This was then the national capital and the country's biggest city.

"Lancaster, then a town of about 3000 people, was the largest inland center in America. To join the national capital with the inland metropolis seemed a natural thing to do.

"But it required years of agitation before the work was done. Finally the State Legislature granted a charter to the Philadelphia and Lancaster Turnpike Company, which thus obtained the right to convert this into a privately owned road.

"It was about 69 miles long and it was ordered to be 50 feet wide. "Only 21 feet in the center was to be paved with broken stone. The road was finished in 1794 at a cost of $6630 a mile.

"It was the wonder of the whole United States, and quite properly so, since it had cost $464,000.

"That was then by far the greatest sum ever expended upon any one project, public work or building program in this country.

"No canal had then cost that amount. No railroad existed in the entire land."

"Wall street never saw greater excitement than occurred in Philadelphia and Lancaster the day the Turnpike stock was sold.

"The stock was $300 a share. First come, first served, was the rule in each city. United States Senator William Bingham, of Philadelphia, then American Croesus, was president of the company and got a large block of the stock.

"Everybody thought the Turnpike would be a bonanza and tried to get a piece of it. And everybody was right.

"One hundred years ago, or in 1827, the company paid $72 a share in dividends upon the stock which had been sold for $300.

"There were nine toll-gates along the route.

"That was the era of the famous Conestoga wagons which came originally from Lancaster county or from the banks of the noble Conestoga Creek.

Toll Charges Varied.

"Toll charges varied according to the size of the teams. An ordinary two-horse vehicle paid 25 cents to go about 10 miles. Many thousand Conestoga wagons annually rolled over the Lancaster pike—then and for decades America's greatest road.

"The thing was a gold mine for the owners for the first quarter century and a little more, and then came the railroads to knock it into a cocked hat.

"With the advent of the iron horse the old Conestogas began to vanish swiftly and with them the stream of silver which had flowed steadily into the company coffers at the toll-gates.

"The past generation saw that once magnificent highway degenerate into a cause for curses.

"Too poor to keep the road in good repair the company, just 60 years ago, sold the section from Philadelphia to Paoli for $8000—scarcely more than one mile had cost.

"A. J. Cassatt headed the company which bought that portion of the old

Lancaster pike.

"Ten years ago the State of Pennsylvania purchased that same section from Philadelphia to Paoli for $165,000. The section reaching into Lancaster was purchased for $90,000.

"That ended the toll-gates forever. The fine old pike was remade and it now forms one of the most beautiful reaches of the Lincoln highway, which spans the American continent."

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED

In the early days of Lumbering it was customary to fell the giant White Pine trees, cut only the select logs—float them down stream and give them the water cure for about six months to two years. Then run them through (in many cases) a portable saw mill, slice them into nice, soft cork boards—another six months to one and a half years of air drying, and they were ready for Foundry Patterns, Sash, Doors, Corner Cupboards and many other old stand-bys.

But in those days most of the Pine Lumber came from Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Today—Similar giants are dropped—skidded or conveyed into a most modern band sawmill, where they are very uniformly sawn, carefully graded, loaded on trucks and placed in up-to-the-minute dry kilns for a few days or week. Then shipped about three thousand miles to our yard—all within a possible sixty days.

The old reliable WHITE PINE, with its rare beauty and texture, in any grade, is always with us.

POLICE GET THANKS

Get Letters From Recipients of Xmas Baskets—Riot With Children.

Several letters of thanks were received this week by the Lower Merion police for the 29 baskets containing turkeys and provisions for Christmas dinner which they sent poor families in the township and Narberth. Other recipients of the gift baskets, many of whom could not write, came personally to Ardmore headquarters to give their thanks or sent messages by district officers.

In addition to sending food to the various families, the police assembled many of the poor children at headquarters on Christmas morning before the tree in the Magistrate's Court and gave them presents of candy and toys.

"There were 80 of them here," Superintendent Smith said describing the scene, "and we sure had a time with them. We ran out of supplies and had to take up another collection from those around headquarters on Christmas morning to take care for all of the kids."

"Then we took them over to the Ardmore Legion house, where they were given more presents. Some got lost enroute and we had a great job getting them all together again."

"We had our greatest fun when it came time to take them home," he concluded. "We had driven them over in motor cars and one little mite refused to walk back, though her home was only a few blocks away. She came in a car, she claimed, and she insisted that she was going to ride home in one."

PATCHWORK QUILTS

Book on Subject Given to Library by Fortnightly Club.

Each year the Fortnightly Club of Narberth, a group of women meeting to discuss cultural subjects, have given to the library some valuable book of specialized interest. Last year it was a book on old china and porcelain, the year before a book on Oriental rugs. These books are too expensive for the library to purchase out of its limited funds, but find constant use when once placed on the shelves.

As a companion to these books the Fortnightly Club has given this year a charming book on "Quilts, Their Story and How to Make Them," by Marie D. Webster. The book is well illustrated and lists all the familiar patterns of patchwork and quilting, such as the Log Cabin, Drunkard's Path, Tulip, Blazing Star and the interesting "Autograph" pattern. Unfortunately the book is not indexed, but the library plans to have this done, believing that the index will add to the value of the book.

Other new books added to the library this month are:

"Glorious Adventure," by Richard Halliburton.

"Bridge of San Luis Rey," by Thornton Wilder.

"Lazarus Laughed," a play, by Eugene O'Neill.

"Canary Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine.

"Passenger to Folkestone," by J. S. Fletcher.

"Daughter of the Samurai," by Sugimoto.

"Bellamy Trial," by Frances Noyes Hart.

"Camels," by Daniel Streeter.

"Best Plays of 1926-27," Burns Mantle.

"Best Short Stories of 1927," by E. J. O'Brien.

"Interference," by Roland Pertwee.

"Vanguard," by Arnold Bennett.

"Witness at the Window," by Charles Barry.

"Eighth Wonder, the Holland Tunnel."

"The extraordinary methods of the Lower Merion police on New Year's day, in enforcing the literal word of the automobile code, comes close to a very shocking degree of fanaticism, and we behold a shameful record of arrests and fines and costs that brings bewilderment and chagrin to every clear-thinking citizen who is solicitous for the continued good repute of the Main Line section.

"Such boorish behavior never did belong in this neighborhood and there is no place for it now."

One of those taken with old tags was Harry Stuhldreher, one of the famous "four horsemen" of Notre Dame football fame, who is at present coach of the Villanova eleven, and in business in Haverford.

Other brought in were Giovanni DiFelice, John Mack, Harold E. Austin, Max R. Heppenstall, Helen Collen, Edward G. Budd, Rush McMullin, Louis Krant, W. E. Young, Harris F. Moore, William C. L. M. PASSERS COP
FOURTH CAGE TILT

Collingdale High is Victim
on Tuesday Afternoon;
Score 31-24.

This afternoon in the Lower Merion High gym Coach Anderson's Maroon and White basketball five takes on its first Suburban League opponent, Upper Darby. The Ardmore quintet is unbeaten as yet, having won all its first four games with plenty to spare. On the other hand, Upper Darby tasted the sting of defeat when it was beaten by Radnor last Tuesday night.

Upper Darby really has a formidable five, one that should cause plenty of trouble throughout the league. In its game against Radnor, it missed a great many easy shots at the net, the ball absolutely refusing to drop through for the necessary points. The uncertainty of basketball might have these same shots coaling up points, and if that be true then Lower Merion will have a tartar on its hands this afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon the Maroon and White five added Collingdale

to its three other wins when they won a loosely played game on the home floor at Ardmore. Coach Anderson started his usual lineup of Lockwood and Kohlhas, forwards; Deubler, center; Cook and Mandes, guards; but their play appeared a bit ragged at times, no doubt due to the lack of sufficient practice during the holidays.

Lockwood was the high scorer for his team, scoring three field goals and four fouls. Cook was next with two field tosses and the same number of fouls. Mandes and Deubler also had two baskets each, with Doug Flemming adding two foul tries.

On the whole, the Lower Merion team did not show its usual brilliant play, but with the hard drill Coach Anderson ordered for the rest of the week the passers should be in proper form for the game with Upper Darby this afternoon.

SNOW IS SPEAKER AT ROTARY DINNER

Urges That Members Keep in Touch With Younger
Generation.

SHAND TELLS OF TRIP

E. H. Snow, principal of the Lower Merion Junior High School, was speaker at the meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Tuesday night. He chose "Fellowship" as his topic.

The meeting was informal in tone and was held under the direction of the fellowship committee of the club, of which Fred Walzer is chairman. Preceding Mr. Snow's address, W. Russell Green was called on for a few words, which resolved themselves into a brief recital of war experiences.

Following Mr. Green on the program, Mr. Snow took up the war topic and told the members of some of the interesting and amusing experiences he had encountered while a top sergeant in the coast artillery.

"We are busy and prosperous," he said, "but must find the opportunity to devote part of our time and energy to others. We must keep in contact with our fellowmen, particularly with the younger generation, who need our friendship and counsel."

The speaker told of a New England town where he had spent some time. There the residents live within their own shells and seem to lose all sense of human fellowship. As a result the town is dying—in business, social life and population.

Lindbergh is loved because of his sympathy, Mr. Snow said. When he is spoken to, he is interested; when he is shown something, he pays more than formal attention to it. These qualities of sympathy and respect for those with whom he comes in contact are signs of the fellowship which is needed everywhere.

"Take time in life to know the other fellow," he urged, "and learn the good that is in him. Stop a while for friendships and laughter; it will solve many a problem." Alexander C. Shand, Jr., of the club's newlywed and recently returned tourist, gave the members a brief account of his trip to England, Scotland, France and Italy. Scotland he found chill and bleak. London was his favorite city.

In France there seemed to be a universal feeling of hatred among the citizens for Americans, and this created an atmosphere which did not make his stay there at all pleasant. At Nice Mr. and Mrs. Shand met Carroll Downes, a former Burgess of Narberth and a high official in the Durant Motor Company. Mrs. Downes had been ill at the resort for some time, and both she and Mr. Downes seemed eager to leave the land of anti-American feeling.

Narberth citizens who are interested in the schools are to have a real treat on Monday evening, January 9th.

Mrs. A. H. Reeves, the National President of Congress of Parents and Teachers and the President of the International Federation of Home and School, will speak on "What the home should expect from the school and the school should expect from the home."

The Mothers' Council of Narberth is very fortunate in having a person of Mrs. Reeves' experience and prominence in educational work, and her subject is one of interest to everyone. Parents whose children are in public or private schools in Narberth or elsewhere will be welcome at this meeting of Mothers' Council.

An informal discussion will follow the address, after which there will be a reception, giving an opportunity to meet Mrs. Reeves personally. The meeting is held in Narberth Junior High School at 8 o'clock Monday evening, January 9th.

POLICE CATCH 42 IN TAG ROUND-UP

Neglectful Motorists Are
Fined $13.50 at Ardmore
Hearings.

A total of 42 motorists were arrested by Lower Merion police this week for using 1927 automobile license tags over time. The haul began at 9 A. M. Sunday and continued until Tuesday, when the last two offenders against the State motor vehicle law were brought in.

In a number of cases the motorists had new tags in their cars, but through forgetfulness had neglected to put them on their machines. No leniency was shown however, and everyone caught was escorted to the Ardmore police station where they were given hearings before Squire I. Warner Arthur; fined $10 and assessed costs of $3.50.

Those who had their new plates with them were then allowed to place them on their machines and depart. The others were required to leave their cars at the police station until they secured 1928 tags.

Of the 42 arrested, 30 were brought in on New Year's day. Others kept appearing, and eight more were arrested on Monday, and a final two on Tuesday.

Those motorists caught early on New Year's day were indignant when they found the police meant business and they would be forced to pay fines for their forgetfulness. Police in the city and in nearby communities had let them pass with a warning.

Replying to this criticism Police Superintendent Smith pointed out the State law decreed that no 1927 tags could be used after the last day of the old year, and in order that all motorists might have a chance to change in time, new plates were allowed on machines beginning December 27. He also called attention to a statement broadcast through local newspapers last week, two days before the end of the year, which gave warning that the law would be strictly enforced here.

The explanations of the police, however, fell on a number of deaf ears, and in Narberth a number of residents who were not caught in the dragnet expressed indignation at what they termed unwarranted exercise of authority by the cops.

One local man, reading of the incident in a Philadelphia paper, penned a critical article for publication in "Our Town." Concerning the incident, in which he had no direct part, he says:

"Pretty much all the trouble in life, insofar as it pertains to human relationships, comes as a result of extremists, men and women who know no middle course, and who press their own will and way under all circumstances."

"When this dangerous point of view governs an official procedure, then the peace of the community at once becomes involved and a species of muckrakerism takes the place of reasonable law and order."

TO LECTURE IN ARDMORE

Robert Stanley Ross, C. S., of New York City, will deliver a lecture entitled "Christian Science: The Christianity of the Bible," on Saturday evening, January 7th, at 8:15 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Woman's Club, Ardmore avenue, Ardmore, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Ardmore. This lecture is free and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

WANTS MEMORIAL STAMP

Malcolm H. Ganser, of Norristown, in a letter to the newspapers urges that the Government issue a Valley Forge memorial stamp this year. While the Post Office Department is not eager to make these special issues, concerted demand often sways the officials, and will be resorted to in this case.

The cold weather of the past week was hard on hoboes and like itinerant voyagers passing through Lower Merion. Many appeared at the Lower Merion police headquarters in Ardmore to ask lodging overnight.

Sworn in as Borough Councilmen at Monday Meeting.

Edward S. Haws, former postmaster, and active Democrat, who was sworn in as Councilman Monday to succeed E. C. Griswold, new Real Estate Assessor.

Clifford W. Bates, who was sworn in for his first full term. He was appointed to fill the unexpired term of A. Perry Redifer, deceased. He is an engineer.

William H. Fretz, of Chestnut avenue, who took office for another term at the re-organization meeting. Mr. Fretz is an official of the Union News Company.

LEAP YEAR STARTS COLD

Typical Mummer's parade weather greeted the New Year along the Main Line when a temperature of 10 degrees was recorded Monday by Co-operative Weather Observer Charles J. A. Decker. On Sunday the thermometer began falling, in spite of New Year's spirits and celebrations, until what had been 55 degrees Sunday morning was only 14 degrees by midnight.

Monday saw the weather clear, but oh! how cold. Ten degrees was the lowest for the day, and the highest was only 23 degrees. Tuesday was just as bad, with a high of 23 degrees and a low temperature of 11 degrees. Wednesday was no better, and ice skating became popular on ponds at Haverford College, Merion Golf Club, Villanova College and many private estates.

Precipitation for the early part of the week was 21 of an inch. The barometer was high at 30.45 and low at 29.65. A temperature deficiency of 25 degrees was recorded for the first three days of the week, while for the corresponding period last year the deficiency was only three degrees.

December had a temperature excess of 66 degrees, compared with a deficiency of 191 degrees for December of 1926. Leap Year has evidently decided to be cold and cold, to make up for last year's warmth.

HOWARD STRONG TO SPEAK ON TUESDAY

Regional Planning Director on Program of Women's Club.

A NARBERTH RESIDENT

Howard Strong, director of the Regional Planning Federation, will discuss the future growth of Narberth at a meeting of the Women's Community Club on Tuesday afternoon, January 10. Plans for the meeting have been completed by Mrs. W. Russell Green, program chairman of the club.

Mr. Strong will illustrate his talk with lantern slides obtained from recent points of interest in and about Narberth. He will outline plans whereby Narberth may cope with the rising tide of population inundation that is slowly creeping out from the metropolis of Philadelphia and is threatening to mar the beauties of the suburbs.

In an interview before the meeting Mr. Strong declared: "Narberth has the finest playground in the Tri-State region. It has taken a long step forward in providing a Community House through public subscription. It has one of the finest residential park developments in the East. Narberth is noted for its community celebrations which are held each year. Nowhere is the community spirit more predominant."

Mr. Strong, who lives in Narberth, declared that no time should be lost in providing for the systematic expansion of the community. Studies compiled by the Regional Planning Federation show that Narberth's present population of 4200 will be increased to 5150 by 1940.

TO OPEN HALL

Salasin and Freed, builders of the Narberth Theater, have announced that the large hall on the second floor of the building will shortly be opened.

It has been fully equipped and decorated, and will be known as the Narberth Theater Hall, available for dances, parties, etc., throughout the Main Line.

Council Elects Leitch President at Its Reorganization Meeting

Haws, Fretz and Bates Sworn in at Ceremonies at Borough Hall Monday Night.

At the reorganization meeting of the Borough Council on January 2, Daniel Leitch was unanimously elected president of the board. Mr. Leitch has been a member of Council for the past 10 years and this is his third term in office. He is the senior Councilman and since the death of A. Perry Redifer has headed the important Finance Committee.

He has always been active in local affairs. In addition to heading the annual drive of the Welfare Federation as local chairman, he has filled important posts in the Civic Association and the Y. M. C. A. when these organizations were active in the community life. During the war Mr. Leitch assisted in organizing over the Liberty Loan drives in the borough. He is treasurer of the Merion Title and Trust Co. of Ardmore.

The meeting was called and organized by E. C. Griswold, the outgoing president, in the absence of Burgess Frye. The first business was the swearing in of the re-elected members, Clifford W. Bates and William H. Fretz, and of the only new member, Edward S. Haws, who takes the place made vacant by Mr. Griswold's retirement. Then the unanimous election of Mr. Leitch took place, whereupon Mr. Griswold administered the oath of office to the new president and resigned the chair in his favor. Charles V. Noel and Walton N. Wentz were then re-elected to their positions of clerk and treasurer, respectively.

Upon taking the chair Mr. Leitch spoke as follows: "I want to express my thanks to you for the honor you have conferred upon me and to assure you of my appreciation of the confidence reposed in me by electing me as your presiding officer. I will endeavor to discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability. I have just completed 10 years of service as Councilman, and I count them as happy, if not more so, than any decade that preceded it; and made so by the fact that no political factions or groups exist in our membership. We are all animated by the same purpose—that of giving to the residents of Narberth as good a business administration of their affairs as our best judgment dictates. Let us always keep it that way. Another reason that it is a pleasure to serve on this body is that we enjoy the confidence of the community. I know of no governing body that enjoys this confidence to such an extent as that of the Borough Council of Narberth.

"As senior member of this body it gives me great pleasure to welcome to membership our old friend and fellow-townsmen, Mr. Haws. Mr. Haws, it was your privilege to serve the residents of Narberth in another capacity which you did very creditably. I know you will render service as Councilman with the same fidelity which characterized your work as Postmaster."

Mr. Haws replied modestly but acceptably in a few words. The first meeting of the new Council is scheduled to be an important one, as President Leitch will announce his committees. The 1928 budget is also up for approval and the new tax rate is to be announced. As the new committees have not been chosen there will be no committee meeting this week.

Mr. Griswold, though a retiring member of the board, assures them of his continued interest and support. As a member of the Council for the last six years his knowledge and experience will make him a valuable addition to the "Council Auxiliary," the faithful non-member attendants of the board meetings.

OPEN INSURANCE OFFICE

Trotter Brothers, insurance agents with offices in Philadelphia, have recently opened a branch office in Narberth, in the Narberth National Bank Building.

The firm is under the direction of Messrs. Thomas C. Trotter, Jr., and Lindley H. Trotter, both residents of Woodside avenue and prominent in the affairs of the borough for many years.

The new office is maintained exclusively for insurance service—no other associated activity being involved. A feature of the office is a small collection of fire markers—metal plates attached to buildings protected by certain companies in years gone by. These markers are found in many designs, and at the Philadelphia office of Trotter Brothers, the walls are hung with a large and interesting collection.

Because her husband, it was alleged, gambled excessively and had an "ungovernable and uncontrollable temper," Guldah B. Moore was granted a divorce from Horace P. Moore, of Narberth, Monday, at Norristown.

TREE STARTS BLAZE

A Christmas tree proved to be bad luck for James Oesterbro, 219 Williams avenue, on December 30, at 7:30 P. M. Electric wiring on the tree caused it to explode, setting fire to all the furniture in the room. One chemical truck was used to extinguish the blaze. The total damage was estimated at $800—$300 of it being to the house, and $500 to its contents. The building, a two-story affair, was insured at $5000, but there was no insurance on the contents. The property is valued at $6500, and its contents at $2000.

On January 2nd the fire fighters were called out for a chimney fire at 4 P. M. There was no damage.

CARD PARTY

A card party given by the Welfare Committee of the Woman's Community Club will be held on January 16, 1928, at 2 P. M. sharp, at the home of the chairman, Mrs. George Norman Gill, 216 Dudley avenue. Tickets, 50 cents. The proceeds are to be devoted to furthering the work of the committee.

OTHER FIRESIDE NOTES

The New Year can be ushered in so many different ways that one must stop and think just what he should do to celebrate the occasion in the most fitting manner. There's midnight shows, dances starting around 11.30, and joining other merry-makers in parading up and down the streets. Personally, though, we like to go to a neighbor's home and spend the evening having a rollicking good time, with a delicious supper served at midnight. Several Narberth folk entertained friends New Year's Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Leins, Jr., of 348 Meeting House lane, had as their guests for the evening, Mr. and Mrs. John Albrecht, Mr. and Mrs. George McCrea, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Albrecht, Miss Edna Mander and Mr. J. Harkness.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Haws, of 107 Dudley avenue, entertained 10 guests Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Nash gave a party at the Philadelphia Country Club for many of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Miller, of 426 Haverford avenue, spent the New Year week-end in Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas C. Miner, of Woodside avenue, visited Mr. Miner's parents in New York last week-end.

Mrs. S. J. Wilson, of 527 Baird road, Merion, will entertain at bridge Monday evening. There will be 11 guests.

Miss Marion Bottoms gave a delightful tea last Sunday afternoon at her home on the corner of Baird and Philadelphia avenues, from 4 o'clock on. Several girls from Narberth and Merion were among the guests.

Mr. John Maguire returned to Pittsburgh after spending the holidays with his parents, at 300 Grayling avenue.

Miss Betty Peirce and Miss Doris Worrell have returned to Narberth after spending the Christmas with their parents, at Kennett Square and Freesport, respectively. Miss Peirce and Miss Worrell make their home with Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Maxwell, of Baird and Rockland avenues.

Mr. Benjamin F. Yowell spent the New Year in Sperryville, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. George N. Floyd, of Sprague road, gave a delightful family dinner party on New Year's day.

Another large family reunion dinner was given New Year's day by Mr. and Mrs. John Sjolholm at their home on Iona avenue. There were 17 guests.

Miss Honora Snyder, of North Narberth avenue, was hostess to members of her sorority last Tuesday evening. The guests were the Misses Betty Cook, Gladys and Ruth Ruddick, Laura Winters, Helen Marshall, Dorothy Gimber, Janet Hayes, Emily Maxwell, Emily McMakin, Hope Burlingame, Cynthia Metzger, Patience Wohler.

Mr. Carroll Downes, Jr., of Dudley avenue, sailed last night on the Aquitania for Europe.

At the Theater

There has seldom been a screen story of such a vital nature which developed so naturally yet retained a remarkable edge of thrilling surprise action as "Not for Publication," the feature picture at the Narberth Theater on Monday and Tuesday. A virile action picture this film centers about the building of a great dam in the West. The appealing love theme about which the action revolves is of an unusually wholesome nature.
Ralph Ince plays the leading role and directs as well. A newcomer to the screen, Jola Mendez, plays the feminine lead.

Monte Blue, the man with the deceptive name, holds the boards at the Narberth Theater on Wednesday and Thursday in "The Bush Leaguer." This picture is said to be a sure cure for em.

Hilarious humor features "Very Confidential," the screen vehicle to appear at the Narberth Theater next Friday and Saturday with Madge Bellamy in the title role. This picture is said to contain more chuckles per foot of film than any Miss Bellamy has appeared in for months. The story, which centers about the every-day life of a lively girl employed as a clerk in a sporting goods store, was written by James McGinness and Randall H.
Faye. The background is furnished by the San Bernardino range in California. Miss Bellamy's wardrobe includes some ultra-modern sports costumes.

HERE AND THEREABOUTS

Editor.

The police are no doubt entitled to their publicity, but it would seem, if they are to recognize their proper part in a democratic scheme of things, it ought to be confined to their achievements and not include threats of what they are going to do, even when the thing involved is of such tremendous importance as an alert changing of automobile tags. As it is, we were advised that as soon as midnight boomed
the advent of the new year the roads would swarm with special corps and special cars and woe to the hapless ones who had overlooked doing precisely and exactly what the law required of him. It might be said that the purpose of the announcement was to save embarrassment and a possible fine for those who transgressed, but it would be far better to punish the offenders, if such indeed they were,
than to fail to recognize that the police department is supposed to remain an inconspicuous part of our procedure and that it is organized to serve and not to regulate the community. We don't believe Captain Donaghey ever lost sight of that fact.

What Wohler has done for the playground, planting hundreds of shade and flowering trees, is only a forerunner of what he is likely to do if he is spared to live, and we can all agree that he looks good for another 50 years, anyhow. And where is our usually perspicacious Burgomaster that he has not drafted this splendid citizen to help on the Recreation Board, for few could serve as well and none would be more steadfast in bringing the grounds to their ultimate perfection. As the record stands now, no man has done more, as this generous gift of trees only supplements his work in leveling the grounds in the early days, and without his aid the project would have been delayed interminably.

It is not always easy to get along with Wohler, as his success indicates he has every reason to support his own way of procedure, and he is not always willing to bow quickly to another viewpoint, but he's tractable enough when his confidence is established, and when his interest is once secured in a worth-while endeavor there is no stint to the manner in which he will support it with his time and money. He will probably be writing to the editor that he is not particularly desirous of having his will and his way publicly discussed, and so if you see a letter from him next week at variance with these sentiments this will be fair notice not to pay any attention to it.

There is no doubt that Narberth has made a complete turnover during the last 10 years, and we will have to agree that everything which has occurred has not been the best thing for the borough from a residential viewpoint. Nevertheless, the place as it is now will attract more people and furnish a wider market for real estate than a town of more conservative development and we may expect a gradual replacement of the original popuand Mrs. C. E. Welsh, of 418 Woodland, Md., on January 16th. Miss Ziler is a member of the graduating class of the Allegheny Hospital Training School, and the engagement was announced at a banquet given in honor of the class last week.

The cold clear weather of the past week which froze all the ponds brought out most of the ice skating enthusiasts.
Noticed on Haverford College skating pond during the past week were many Narberth boys and girls, among them being Betty Cook, Ruth Lee Cook,
Jane Wheeler, Janet Caldwell, Kitty
Trowbridge, Katherine Douglass, Alice
Monks, Eleanor Riley, Alice Maguire, Edith Maguire, Elizabeth Terry, Ellen
Pray, Mary Anderson, Evelyn Jefferis,

Mr. Frank Randolph, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., has returned to Narberth to continue his studies at the Philadelphia Osteopathy College. He was the guest of his parents during Christmas vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Inglefield, of Pittsburgh, were the guests of Miss Theodore Livingston of Essex avenue
during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Miller, of North Narberth avenue, entertained many friends at their home New Year's eve. Their guests were Dr. and Mrs.
W. E. Crevatt, Mr. and Mrs. Keith
Monnington, Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian
Rudolph, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Haigh and
Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bartlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Lamorelle and daughter, Jean, formerly of Avon road, are occupying their new home on Hillside avenue, Wynnewood.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce E. Beyer, of Chicago, have returned to their home after spending the holidays as the guests of Mrs. Beyer's sister, Miss Margaret McDevitt, of 109 Windsor avenue.

Mrs. Arthur K. Le Fevre will be hostess to the members of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the day, January 9, at her home, 9 Sabine

avenue.

idents of Avon road, have moved to lation and a greater emphasis of the apartment abodes. The convenient sections of Philadelphia have long since succumbed to the more "liberal" way of living and the original settlers who continued to stress the home plan had to move to other and less accessible neighborhoods. So it is also with our own convenient suburbs, and a very decided change in things may be expected here during the next five years.

Meanwhile, it is interesting to note how "grown-up" we appear to be when we see our boys, born or bred in the town, blossoming forth as full-fledged merchants. The latest contribution to the town facilities is the very fine delicatessen store which the Hamer brothers have opened on Haverford avenue in the establishment formerly occupied by the irresistible Walter Case, who is now in larger quarters across the street. Harry and Frank Hamer were both born in Nar-berth and Howard first saw the light hard by in Wynnewood. Reports indicate they have gotten off to an excellent start, as 250 customers are said to have come to buy on the very first day, a figure which might afford a vivid contrast to the time when Howard Davis, for instance, put out his shingle on our Main street years ago.
And neither did we fail to notice, on this eventful first day, that Mother Hamer was there, working just as hard as the rest, and that affords an additional reason why we should all wish the lads exceedingly well in their new venture, as indeed we all do.

Philadelphia's tax rate goes up and ours goes down, which is just as well with business as it is and salaried incomes less than two years ago. When things improve, however, we might well consider the wonderful possibilities of a $100,000 bond issue. Nothing brings a greater dividend than taxes well administered and in Narberth we sure do get full value.

HERD SIXTH HIGHEST

During November the Ayrshire herd of 103 cows owned by Percival Roberts, Jr., and nationally known as Penshurst Farm, at Narberth, averaged 703 pounds of 4.29 per cent. milk, 30.57 pounds fat, the sixth highest average among all herds tested in the United States under the rules of the Ayrshire herd test, according to W. A. Kyle, of the National Ayrshire Association of Brandon, Vermont. Penshurst Farm cattle ranked first as to total number producing in excess of "Fifty-pound-fat" during the month, 20 cows having exceeded this amount. The high cow in the herd was Penshurst
Belle, that gave 1668 pounds milk, 74.39 pounds of butter-fat. Furthermore, it is of interest to know that of the 11 sires having three or more daughters with productions above 50 pounds fat, three are owned by Penshurst Farm, while several others now owned in different sections of the country were bred at this farm.

Lancaster Road, Once a Private Turnpike, Had Many Ups and Downs

Lancaster Pike, which runs through one edge of Lower Merion, is now a State highway and well paved, but many Main Line residents still remember the time when it was a privately owned turnpike, full of ruts and the cause of much warm language. Originally one of the wonders of the country, the old pike became unprofitable to its backers when railroads came into being, was allowed to disintegrate and received no repairing until purchased by the State.

"Immediately after the Revolution," says Girard, who discussed the ups and downs of the historic highway recently in his column, "they began to talk about a 'great road to the West' from Philadelphia. This was then the national capital and the country's biggest city.

"Lancaster, then a town of about 3000 people, was the largest inland center in America. To join the national capital with the inland metropolis seemed a natural thing to do.

"But it required years of agitation before the work was done. Finally the State Legislature granted a charter to the Philadelphia and Lancaster Turnpike Company, which thus obtained the right to convert this into a privately owned road.

"It was about 69 miles long and it was ordered to be 50 feet wide. "Only 21 feet in the center was to be paved with broken stone. The road was finished in 1794 at a cost of $6630 a mile.

"It was the wonder of the whole United States, and quite properly so, since it had cost $464,000.

"That was then by far the greatest sum ever expended upon any one project, public work or building program in this country.

"No canal had then cost that amount. No railroad existed in the entire land."

"Wall street never saw greater excitement than occurred in Philadelphia and Lancaster the day the Turnpike stock was sold.

"The stock was $300 a share. First come, first served, was the rule in each city. United States Senator William Bingham, of Philadelphia, then American Cressus, was president of the company and got a large block of the stock.

"Everybody thought the Turnpike would be a bonanza and tried to get a piece of it. And everybody was right. "One hundred years ago, or in 1827, the company paid $72 a share in dividends upon the stock which had been sold for $300.

"There were nine toll-gates along the route.

"That was the era of the famous Conestoga wagons which came originally from Lancaster county or from the banks of the noble Conestoga Creek.

Toll Charges Varied.

"Toll charges varied according to the size of the teams. An ordinary two-horse vehicle paid 25 cents to go about 10 miles. Many thousand Conestoga wagons annually rolled over the Lancaster pike—then and for decades America's greatest road.

"The thing was a gold mine for the owners for the first quarter century and a little more, and then came the railroads to knock it into a cocked hat.

"With the advent of the iron horse the old Conestogas began to vanish swiftly and with them the stream of silver which had flowed steadily into the company coffers at the toll-gates.

"The past generation saw that once magnificent highway degenerate into a cause for curses.

"Too poor to keep the road in good repair the company, just 60 years ago, sold the section from Philadelphia to Paoli for $8000—scarcely more than one mile had cost.

"A. J. Cassatt headed the company which bought that portion of the old

Lancaster pike.

"Ten years ago the State of Pennsylvania purchased that same section from Philadelphia to Paoli for $165,000. The section reaching into Lancaster was purchased for $90,000.

"That ended the toll-gates forever. The fine old pike was remade and it now forms one of the most beautiful reaches of the Lincoln highway, which spans the American continent."

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED

In the early days of Lumbering it was customary to fell the giant White Pine trees, cut only the select logs—float them down stream and give them the water cure for about six months to two years. Then run them through (in many cases) a portable saw mill, slice them into nice, soft cork boards—another six months to one and a half years of air drying, and they were ready for Foundry Patterns, Sash, Doors, Corner Cupboards and many other old stand-bys.

But in those days most of the Pine Lumber came from Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Today—Similar giants are dropped—skidded or conveyed into a most modern band sawmill, where they are very uniformly sawn, carefully graded, loaded on trucks and placed in up-to-the-minute dry kilns for a few days or week. Then shipped about three thousand miles to our yard—all within a possible sixty days.

The old reliable WHITE PINE, with its rare beauty and texture, in any grade, is always with us.

POLICE GET THANKS

Get Letters From Recipients of Xmas Baskets—Riot With Children.

Several letters of thanks were received this week by the Lower Merion police for the 29 baskets containing turkeys and provisions for Christmas dinner which they sent poor families in the township and Narberth. Other recipients of the gift baskets, many of whom could not write, came personally to Ardmore headquarters to give their thanks or sent messages by district officers.

In addition to sending food to the various families, the police assembled many of the poor children at headquarters on Christmas morning before the tree in the Magistrate's Court and gave them presents of candy and toys.

"There were 80 of them here," Superintendent Smith said describing the scene, "and we sure had a time with them. We ran out of supplies and had to take up another collection from those around headquarters on Christmas morning to take care for all of the kids."

"Then we took them over to the Ardmore Legion house, where they were given more presents. Some got lost enroute and we had a great job getting them all together again."

"We had our greatest fun when it came time to take them home," he concluded. "We had driven them over in motor cars and one little mite refused to walk back, though her home was only a few blocks away. She came in a car, she claimed, and she insisted that she was going to ride home in one."

S. A. Hamilton Donor of Prize to All-Around Scout.

An interesting feature of the year-end program of the Boy Scouts was the award of the S. A. Hamilton money prize to Robert Hutchinson.

This prize was presented last spring by Mr. Hamilton, of Huntingdon, Pa., for the member of the Boy Scout organization "who best exemplified the spirit of the organization during the year and who is universally acclaimed in Narberth as the upstanding boy scout of the troop."

The selection of Scout Hutchinson was made by Scoutmaster John Wilson and his three assistants, who rated the boys during the past season. The applause that attended the award made The Cabin literally ring.

Mr. Hamilton is a director of the Huntingdon National Bank, freight and passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad and secretary of the Rotary Club of that city. He is intensely interested in boys, having assisted over one hundred of them to successful

Book on Subject Given to Library by Fortnightly Club.

Each year the Fortnightly Club of Narberth, a group of women meeting to discuss cultural subjects, have given to the library some valuable book of specialized interest. Last year it was a book on old china and porcelain, the year before a book on Oriental rugs. These books are too expensive for the library to purchase out of its limited funds, but find constant use when once placed on the shelves.

As a companion to these books the Fortnightly Club has given this year a charming book on "Quilts, Their Story and How to Make Them," by Marie D. Webster. The book is well illustrated and lists all the familiar patterns of patchwork and quilting, such as the Log Cabin, Drunkard's Path, Tulip, Blazing Star and the interesting "Autograph" pattern. Unfortunately the book is not indexed, but the library plans to have this done, believing that the index will add to the value of the book.

Other new books added to the library this month are:

"Glorious Adventure," by Richard Halliburton.

"Bridge of San Luis Rey," by Thornton Wilder.

"Lazarus Laughed," a play, by Eugene O'Neill.

"Canary Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine.

"Passenger to Folkestone," by J. S. Fletcher.

"Daughter of the Samurai," by Sugimoto.

"Bellamy Trial," by Frances Noyes Hart.

"Camels," by Daniel Streeter.

"Best Plays of 1926-27," Burns Mantle.

"Best Short Stories of 1927," by E. J. O'Brien.

"Interference," by Roland Pertwee.

"Vanguard," by Arnold Bennett.

"Witness at the Window," by Charles Barry.

"Eighth Wonder, the Holland Tunnel."

"The extraordinary methods of the Lower Merion police on New Year's day, in enforcing the literal word of the automobile code, comes close to a very shocking degree of fanaticism, and we behold a shameful record of arrests and fines and costs that brings bewilderment and chagrin to every clear-thinking citizen who is solicitous for the continued good repute of the Main Line section.

One of those taken with old tags was Harry Stuhldreher, one of the famous "four horsemen" of Notre Dame football fame, who is at present coach of the Villanova eleven, and in business in Haverford.

Other brought in were Giovanni DiFelice, John Mack, Harold E. Austin, Max R. Heppenstall, Helen Collen, Edward G. Budd, Rush McMullin, Louis Krant, W. E. Young, Harris F. Moore, William C. Cain, Katherine O'Brien, Adam Matloski, Sarah Ronsley, Matthew Gilmore, Charles T. Hewitt, Lieutenant C. R. Green, of the U. S. Navy; William Donnelly, Martin Melcher, Dominic Sacchitti, F. H. Blaks, D. L. Harley, Anna M. Reader, Howard MacIntoy, Elizabeth Gilmore, Robert Sangrob, E. S. Fox, Howard J. Watson, Alex Shand, Jr., J. S. Rodman, Albert F. Mulford, James M. Crolwell, Douglas McFarland, Walter H. Thompson, Dominic Brangan, Earl Myer, Earl Young, Curtis Gest, Julian Lewis and David Meade.

He was first chosen for the office a year ago to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William A. L. Barker. He is second vice president of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Andrew Macdonald, commissioner from North Ardmore, who was re-elected vice president of the township board for his third consecutive one-year term at its meeting Tuesday night. He succeeded Benjamin H. Ludlow as a commissioner, by appointment, when the latter was elected assemblyman in 1922; was re-elected to office in 1923 and again in 1927.

L. M. PASSERS COP
FOURTH CAGE TILT

Collingdale High is Victim
on Tuesday Afternoon;
Score 31-24.

This afternoon in the Lower Merion High gym Coach Anderson's Maroon and White basketball five takes on its first Suburban League opponent, Upper Darby. The Ardmore quintet is unbeaten as yet, having won all its first four games with plenty to spare. On the other hand, Upper Darby tasted the sting of defeat when it was beaten by Radnor last Tuesday night.

Upper Darby really has a formidable five, one that should cause plenty of trouble throughout the league. In its game against Radnor, it missed a great many easy shots at the net, the ball absolutely refusing to drop through for the necessary points. The uncertainty of basketball might have these same shots chalking up points, and if that be true then Lower Merion will have a tartar on its hands this afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon the Maroon and White five added Collingdale

to its three other wins when they won a loosely played game on the home floor at Ardmore. Coach Anderson started his usual lineup of Lockwood and Kohlbas, forwards; Deubler, center; Cook and Mandes, guards; but their play appeared a bit ragged at times, no doubt due to the lack of sufficient practice during the holidays.

Lockwood was the high scorer for his team, scoring three field goals and four fouls. Cook was next with two field tosses and the same number of fouls. Mandes and Deubler also had two baskets each, with Doug Flemming adding two foul tries.

On the whole, the Lower Merion team did not show its usual brilliant play, but with the hard drill Coach Anderson ordered for the rest of the week the passers should be in proper form for the game with Upper Darby this afternoon.
